

The Call of the City.
(From the Chicago Record-Herald.)
I am tired of solitude, quiet and peace,
Of the trees and the flowers and the song birds that lease
The country all summer and fill it with song
And color and perfume all the day long.
I'm sick of the endless, monotonous hum
Of bees in the blossoms, and lately I've come
To dislike the murmur of crystal-clear springs
And the soft undertone that the great river sings.
Let me back to the city, the rush and the throng,
To be one of the crowd, for I've been overlong
A dreamer of dreams and now I would fain
Be back in the world with its pleasures and pain.
Let me back to the stage, with its laugh and its tear;
Let me see the portrayal of life; let me hear
The music of men, not of birds and of bees;
See the color of cheeks, not of flowers and trees.
I'm sick to be back 'mid the throng and the lights,
Living over once more the old, happy nights
With the old friends again. Oh it's there I would be,
For the voice of the city is calling to me.

UNDER THE SHADE OF THE CUCUMBER TREE.

(By the Editor Himself)

Salem public schools are taking up woodwork and needlework and industrial drawing. Our colleges make a great to-do over athletics. The German society on the other hand celebrates the birthday of Johann Friedrich Schiller, who sang songs, drank beer and spouted for liberty when it was almost a crime in Europe for a man to say his soul was his own. Perhaps after awhile we shall begin to pay some attention to the study of literature as such in this country. For the present we are studying hygiene and living on badly cooked food and chemically prepared canned goods.

"Hygiene" seems to be the watchword of the day. There are classes in hygiene, movements to the cause of hygiene, books and lectures on hygiene, and there is even to be a great "General Exhibition of Hygiene" to take place in Buenos Ayres, May, 1910, in connection with an international American Congress of Medicine and Hygiene. In view of these facts no good American citizen can afford to be ignorant upon this subject. The latest word is to be found in Allen's

Civics and Health, published by Ginn and Company.
Schiller's one hundredth and fiftieth birthday which was observed in Berlin with a very elaborate program of addresses and dramatic performances, by the most distinguished German and foreign actors, authors and critics who have had to do with Schiller and his works. This seems a most opportune time for the appearance of a new edition of Schiller's beautiful drama, "Jungfrau von Orleans," edited by Dr. P. S. Allen of Chicago University, which has just appeared from the press of Ginn and Company.

The low ebb of interest in literature for the sake of art is shown by the fact that a city of twenty thousand souls can exist without a scintilla in the way of an organization of a library character. That this city should have a real Blue Stocking Club goes without saying. But that there are enough people in this city with the courage of their conviction who will say they will belong to an organization to bring out higher standards of literary culture is very doubtful.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Rumpers, Box W, No. 20, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Worms

"Cascarets are certainly fine. I gave a friend one when the doctor was treating him for cancer of the stomach. The next morning he passed four pieces of a tape worm. He then got a box and in three days he passed a tape-worm 45 feet long. It was Mr. Matt Freck, of Millersburg, Joplin Co., Pa. I am quite a worker for Cascarets. I use them myself and find them beneficial for most any disease caused by impure blood."
